SUPPLEMENTARY CONTENT FOR THE GRIMOIRE OF HEART
VOLUME I

Welcome to the Sea of Souls! This document compiles every official add-on released for the Grimoire of Heart from its release up to the 4.4.7 update (July 2022).

This content was written and balanced to be on-par with the core Grimoire content, but can be more mechanically advanced than core content. Make sure your Narrator allows Sea of Souls content before using it.

If you somehow have this document and not the core Grimoire release, you can download it here.

As always, a big thank-you to Sanerion, Cam, HunterSystem, Covelion, and everyone else in our Discord server for contributing concepts and feedback for the Sea of Souls!

If you're looking for fan-made crossover content, check out the Heartverse.

Class Variant – Innocent (Suppressors)

“A machine designed after a child? You sure found something unusual in those Tunnels....”

The Innocent are often cited as humanity’s blooming hope against the ever-encroaching catastrophes of the world, infinitely complex humanoid machines that do exactly as they’re told, bearing the combined knowledge of humanity and doing jobs that are too risky for humans to do. However, a scant few of these Innocents break free of the mold they were designed to fit, gaining free will and being admitted as full citizens before long.

Innocents are generally seen as kind and generous, but with a strong sense of self-preservation. This allows them to blend in more easily into human society than their distant relatives, the Anti-Shadow Suppression Weapons, at the cost of somewhat diminished combat capabilities.

Mechanically, Innocents are treated as Suppressors, but with the following Class Features instead of the Suppressors’:

- ❖ Streamlined Machine: Upon gaining an even Character Level (2, 4, 6, etc.), Innocents can substitute one of their Social Skill gains to instead raise any of their Combat Skills by one. This grants a clear and quick boost in combat capabilities when compared with other Classes at the same level.
- ❖ Vast Database: The near-endless supply of data stored in the Innocents’ drives are mostly encrypted, but can rarely be tapped into. Innocents can learn spells outside of their Types. However, these spells cost double their normal SP price. This only applies to acquiring these spells. Consider the price for upgrading or forgetting these spells their normal cost.
- ❖ Power of the Monoliths: Once per day, Innocents can tap into the source of the energy that granted them sentience and enter a state of frenzy, as a free action. Innocents under this effect gain +2 STR, +2 MAG, +2 TEC, +2 AGI and can roll one Critical Hit without spending Luck Charges. This lasts for three rounds and stacks with other Buff effects. When this effect ends, the Innocent enters a state of emergency maintenance, losing Energy equal to half their maximum Energy and suffering the effects of Shocked (cannot dodge, suffer Critical Margin +1) until the start of their next turn, which ignores all resistances to Status.
- ❖ Glowing Hearts: When creating an Innocent, you may choose an extra Aspect, for a total of five.
- ❖ Worlds Apart: Due to an unexplained firmware quirk, Innocents find it markedly difficult to understand the language of Demons. Innocents suffer a permanent -1 Social Tier penalty during all Shadow negotiations.

Class – Devil Summoners

"Tokyo, 199X: A freak accident with a teleportation device causes strange beings to appear in Kichijoji... The people who see these beings call them Demons."

From time immemorial, humans told stories of demons. Creatures that lurk in darkness, carrying powers far beyond those of humans. The temptation to bind demons to our world, to force them to obey humanity's will, has been the source to many theories, most involving complex rituals and thorough comprehension of the nature of demonic power. But what if rituals could be stored as data, and replicated by anyone with access to a digital device? What course would humanity take with the powers of a Devil Summoner?

For the purposes of this Class, consider all mentions of Demons or Devils to be equivalent to Shadows or Personae in the core Grimoire book.

- ❖ Demon Busters: Devil Summoners get a Starter Persona (also known as a Starter Devil) like all other User Classes, and can add new Demons to their list by negotiation, following the standard negotiation rules, except for the following: If a negotiation would result in Failure or Nothing, the negotiation target will always choose to attack, if able. Devil Summoners can carry up to 3 Demons in their stock. This limit increases by 1 whenever the User gains a permanent boost to a Combat Skill.
    - Devil Summoners have access to Fusion and Sacrifice, but not Seclusion, and can perform these rituals directly from their COMPs, outside of combat.
  - ❖ Overclock: Once per combat, you may choose one Demon on your list, except your currently summoned Demon: Choose a spell from its deck, spend 1 Energy, plus its normal Energy cost and any spell-specific costs, and cast that spell as if it were on your summoned Demon's deck. This spends the same action as the spell's stated cost, and does not spend that spell's use.
  - ❖ Laplace: Devil Summoners bypass the requirements for the Potential, being able to summon Demons to their aid by using a device known as a COMP. COMPs come in many shapes and interfaces, being as simple as a motion-tracking bracelet or as complex as a futuristic gun-shaped device.
    - Your COMP choice is permanent. COMPs are biometrically assigned to each Devil Summoner and cannot be operated by anyone but their owner.
    - If you destroy or lose your COMP, you cannot summon any Demons, including your Starter, but you can still access the Metaverse normally, and you can choose to recover your COMP in the next Time Block by reducing your next RP gain to zero. This also disables any other COMP you owned.
    - When creating a Devil Summoner, choose a form for your COMP and one of the seven Categories below, gaining the appropriate features.

Name	Effect	Description
Arm Terminal	Bypass the "1 Energy" cost of triggering Overclock. Once per day, when you trigger Overclock, you can choose to Repress the chosen spell: You do not spend Energy to cast that spell or activate that spell's extra effects, if any.	An arm-mounted computer with a simple interface. Some models include an attachment that the Summoner wears over their eyes that feed them important battle info.
GUMP	Whenever you gain a new spell that does not have the Unique category, you gain two uses of it instead of one. This does not apply when you spend SP to upgrade a lower Tier skill into a higher Tier.	A sophisticated gun-shaped computer with a screen, keyboard and full internet capabilities that can collapse into a small rectangle when not in use.

Kuzunoha Tubes	You gain +1 Social Tier for all negotiations, but you cannot risk a dice category higher than a d4 during negotiations. Once per day, if you succeed in a negotiation, you do not spend the action for that negotiation.	Silver cylinders, each containing the essence of a different Demon. They open up during summoning through a delicate mechanism and reveal a glowing green interior.
CEMP	Once per combat, you can use a consumable item as a Quick action.	"Component Ejection and Mobility Parabellum" , a COMP equipped with a mechanical system that can retrieve and manipulate objects faster than the eye can see.
Avalon	During your weekly RP reset, you can choose to retain RP equal to half your highest Social Skill Tier.	A large golden broadsword equipped with a modern processor.
COMPrella	You don't take damage from effects that specify a space, you are immune to all effects that denote targets "within a Circle", and you take no damage from effects that denote "adjacent units" as targets if you're not the main target.	A frilly gray parasol. It doesn't have an interface to summon demons, but does so in response to rhythmic waving.
Laplace Protocol	Tyrant Shards you are carrying only take up one demon slot. Activating the second effect of Essence of the Great Lords costs 2 Energy, instead of the usual 4.	An app installed on the Summoner's phone or a similarly portable device.

- ❖ Essence of the Great Lords: Whenever a Tyrant is defeated, all Devil Summoners in combat gain a <Tyrant's Name>'s Shard, a symbol of its power. This Shard takes up two of your Demon stock slots, but cannot be summoned as a Demon. Instead, you may choose to use Overclock to temporarily call upon that Shard, granting you one of the following effects (your choice). You can only do this once per day. You can also choose to Sacrifice the Shard to distribute SP equal to its Level amongst your other Demons.
  - Replace your summoned Demon's Natural Skill by that Tyrant's for 3 rounds;
  - Spend 4 Energy, on top of Overclock's activation cost: Cast one Tier 5 spell of one of the Tyrant's Types as if it were on your summoned Demon's list;

Class - Attendants

"Nothing meaningless happens in the Velvet Room. Have faith in this power invested in you, and use it to carve your own path."

The Velvet Room exists between dream and reality, its shape and inhabitants molded by its notorious guests and given life through their shared experiences. Its assistants, sometimes referred to as Attendants, have a tendency to quickly bond with Users and grow curious about the outside world, craving the freedom the Users embody. Given an opportunity, most Attendants will wander out of the Velvet Room and pursue their own goals, and a rare few will find the strength to awaken their Potential and become exceedingly powerful Persona Users in their own rights.

- ❖ Wielder of the Compendium: The Persona Compendium given to every Attendant can catalogue information on Personae the party happens upon, but its hidden potential is unleashed once an Attendant unlocks their Potential. An Attendant-class User may cast an Active spell from any other User's Spell Deck by paying double the initial Energy cost of that spell. Other costs and restrictions apply normally, but this does not spend uses of, nor Represses, the original spell.
- ❖ Updating the Grimoire: Carefully analyzing Shadows is part of the duty of an Attendant. You can use a Quick action to target one Shadow you can see. If that Shadow is slain or otherwise removed from combat, you gain a number of "Recovery Points" based on that Shadow's "Tier" column (Grimoire of Heart, Page 163), then use those points immediately, and for no action cost, to recover spent spell uses from your deck. You can spend a number of Recovery Points equal to a spell's Tier to recover one of its uses. Points that are not spent immediately are forfeit. If you successfully recover at least one spell use with this feature, you can no longer activate it for this combat.
- ❖ One Last Page: Whenever a User dies permanently by any means, their essence gathers around the Attendant User, who may take it back to the Velvet Room and perform a unique ritual to celebrate their life forevermore. This creates an extra Page in their Compendium for each of the fallen User's Personae, containing their powers and the memories gathered throughout the User's journey. Under the same restrictions other classes have to switch between Personae, an Attendant can switch between Pages and use the Spell decks from each Persona freely. Note that the Attendant's Types, Arcana and Type interactions do not change. Finally, the spells contained in the Pages cannot be upgraded or refunded for extra SP.
- ❖ Meaning from Emptiness: Attendants are in a constant state of psychological growth, and observing others' failures is a great way to learn. Attendants start each game session with two Aspect Points, but whenever a User's Aspects are Compelled, used to negatively impact the party, all Attendant Users gain an extra Aspect Point, except the Compelled User, if they are an Attendant.

An Attendant's Compendium can come in many forms, usually that of an old, heavy book, but feel free to exercise your creativity in what shape yours takes.

Class - Artificial Users

"My life was stolen from me... And in its place, I was given a power I never asked for... And so, I learned that the future is a delusion. Only by striving to live every moment to its fullest can the soul truly be satisfied."

The process of awakening one's Persona can take many forms, most brought upon by strong emotions and a fierce desire to survive. It can be fickle, time-consuming, and fallible.

But what if you could provide a clean, monitored environment with controlled stimuli and experiments to draw out one's Persona, whatever the cost? That was the inspiration behind experiments on forcing awakenings upon humans. The stress of these experiments, however, had disastrous consequences, as Personae that are forced to awaken tend to be unstable and violent, being capable of fatally wounding their Users in situations of stress. The original subjects of these trials are lost to time, but there's no telling when these inhuman experiments will be repeated.

Berserk: An Artificial User's Persona powers can be an explosive asset, but care must be taken that it doesn't devour their User in the process. Once per turn, as a quick action, you can activate the following effect:

- ❖ Add +1 to any two distinct Combat Skills. This bonus is not treated as a Buff effect, and thus can stack with Buff effects and previous activations of Berserk, and cannot be removed by Buff-removal effects.
- ❖ The User's Max HP is decreased by SKLd6 (STR or MAG, whichever is highest) and their Damage Reduction suffers a -2 penalty.
- ❖ These effects last until the User utilizes a time block to sleep. You cannot activate Berserk if it would reduce your maximum HP to 1 or less. Negative Damage Reduction values increase all damage taken that would be otherwise reduced.
- ❖ This effect can be used up to two times at Level 1. Increase this limit to up to three times at Level 5, then to four times at Level 10 and finally five times at Level 20. Uses are reset at the same time the effects are.

Amorphous Instability: Artificial Users' minds teeter on the brink of collapse, but this, too, can be used to great effect. Once per Combat, an Artificial User can attempt to mimic a Shadow's techniques and incorporate them into their arsenal.

- ❖ This is considered an Intel skill that treats Null, Drain and Repel Intel as Resist Intel. The range of this skill is equal to the User's currently equipped weapon, and it has an activation chance of  $40 + (\text{SKL} + \text{TEC})\%$ .
- ❖ On a success, the User can choose up to two spells from the Shadow's spell deck (leaving it to the Narrator's discretion of which spells can be chosen from) and copy them into a separate spell deck. These spells must be of Types the Persona can learn.
- ❖ This special spell deck can only hold 6 spells. You cannot learn extra uses of these spells. All mimicked spells gain the following effect: "After casting, Repress this spell. This spell's Repression cannot be restored by any effects outside of rest.". Forgetting these spells does not reward any SP. These spells have no Energy cost.

Enduring Spirit: Negative Raku, Suku and Taru effects applied on Artificial Users last one round less than their default duration.

Thank you Covelion#7777 and educis#4579 for contributing this Class concept!

Class - Nahobino

"So, the Nahobino makes themselves known again. Light or dark, you may chase whatever you please. I shall await you in the realm beyond earth and heavens."

Long ago, gods and humans were as one, beings of peerless power who could shape the world as they saw fit. To this day, stories tell of "demons" who seek out their human counterparts, joining to retrieve a spark of the infinite potential they lost in their separation. Those who seek the lost truths of the Metaverse posit that these Nahobino, or Unified Gods, are indistinguishable from Persona Users, although of a class all their own.

- ❖ Gouitsujin: A Nahobino embodies the power of their Persona in a particularly intimate form: While in the Metaverse, a Nahobino changes their appearance to take on some features of their Personae. Additionally, a Nahobino can cast their spells without summoning their Persona and can dispel their appearance to summon their Personae freely, without needing the summoning methods of other Users. These effects are purely visual.
- ❖ Calamity's Edge: Nahobino can mold the raw power of their Personae to materialize an energy blade that replaces their right hands. This blade is considered a Range 1 melee weapon that deals SKLd6 damage. The Type of this damage can be any "Damage" Type (Physical, Fire, Ice, Wind, Thunder, Light, Dark, Nuclear, PSY) except Almighty of any spell their Persona possesses. Starting from CLv. 5, a Nahobino adds their SKL value to damage calculation for attacks performed with Calamity's Edge.
  - ❖ Divine Proficiency: The true potential of the Unified Gods amplifies one's innate magical potential. A Nahobino can carry up to 24 spells.
  - ❖ Apotheosis: The latent transformative power of a Nahobino allows them to shape their own selves as needed. If the result of a Nahobino's negotiation roll would result in a Persona/Card reward, they instead gain a "[Shadow]'s Essence", a consumable that can only be used by Nahobino, and only while out of combat, taking the form of a crystal sphere colored after the Shadow's appearance. Upon consuming an Essence, a Nahobino can choose between exchanging their Elemental Interactions with the Shadow's, or purchasing new spells and adding them to their Spell Deck according to the Shadow's Spell Points. A Nahobino can only gain and carry one Essence of each Shadow "species".
    - Example: The Nahobino User Tao has Weakness against Dark and Resist Light, and the Light, Cure and Buff Types. Upon consuming a Pixie's Essence (see below), she may choose to permanently change her Interactions to "Resist Thunder, Weak against Dark" or gain 2 Spell Points to purchase Thunder or Wind spells, despite her not having either Type.

Pixie's Essence	Spell Points: 2
Resists: Thunder	Types:
Weak: Dark	Thunder, Wind

Class - Navi

"What denies you is an illusion... A curse put upon you by the heartless... The forbidden wisdom has been revealed. No mysteries...no illusions shall deceive you any longer."

Although most Personae are flexible, but fully equipped to fight Shadows, a recent anomaly has been observed where a few rare Users awaken to Personae that are entirely dedicated to supporting their summoners and their allies, being able to do so much more efficiently than others at the cost of diminished destructive prowess. These Users are commonly referred to as Navigators, Navi for short, as they often avoid combat to support others from the sidelines.

- ❖ Purity of Purpose: Navi Users can only choose from the following Types: Intel, Status, Buff, and Debuff, but can select all four if they so choose, gaining an extra Persona level if they choose to forego any of these Types (one extra level per Type not chosen). Additionally, you may choose any valid Type as your Resistance, instead of only a Type your Initial Persona possesses.
- ❖ Proud Aegis: Once per combat, if the effect of a spell cast by a Navi causes an enemy's attack to fail or deal 1 or less damage to any target, the Navi User gains SP equal to half their character level.
- ❖ Metaverse Pulse: All Navi Users gain the Tier I Perception Intel spell at character creation, for no cost, even if they do not choose the Intel Type.
  - This skill does not count against your spell deck limit, and cannot be refunded for SP. When your Persona reaches level 5, this spell becomes Powerful Perception. At level 10, it becomes Absolute Perception. Finally, at Level 15, it becomes Eyes of Prometheus. This stacks with spells of the same name and ignores the effects on these spells that cancel out lower Tiers.
- ❖ Aide's Legacy: At character creation, choose one of the Navi spells below. You may choose one more Navi spell when your Persona reaches Levels 5, 10, 15 and 20. These spells have no Energy cost outside of their stated effects, and only Navi Users can learn and cast them, and only via Aide's Legacy.

Navi Spells

Name	Categories	Reach	Effect	Description
Makatora	Navi, Heal, Unique (A)	1 ally within 8 meters	Spend X Energy . Restore target's Energy by X.	A gleaming blue line briefly connects the caster and the target.
	Time: Default	Duration: Instant
Regenerate	Navi, Heal, Unique (P)	Caster	At the end of combat, if your HP is below 100% but above 0, restore up to 20% of your maximum HP.	A green energy disk surrounds the caster, accelerating healing.
	Time: Passive	Duration: Permanent
Invigorate	Navi, Heal (P)	Caster	At the end of combat, if your Energy is below its maximum value, you may spend 1 Aspect Point to restore 1d4 Energy.	A deep blue droplet falls from the sky, briefly enveloping the User in a gentle glow.
	Time: Passive	Duration: Permanent
Into the Void	Navi, Null, Interrupt, Unique (A)	1 ally within 9 meters	Spend 4 Cognitive Counters . Target ally gains Null &lt;All&gt; against the next attack this round.	You create an area of cognitive blindness around an ally, making Shadows' attacks fail to reach them.
	Time: Interrupt	Duration: Instant	Only 1 target can be under the effect of Into the Void at a time.

Zero Set	Navi, Unique (A)	1 ally within 6 meters	Spend 4 Counters or 4 Energy . Target's next spell has no generic Energy costs. Spell-specific costs still apply.	Your target is surrounded by floating equations and graphs.
	Time: Default	Duration: Instant
Position Hack	Navi, Initiative (A)	A number of targets within 8 meters.	Spend X Counters . For each Counter spent, change the position of 1 target in the initiative queue. These changes take effect at the start of the next round.	Affected targets are surrounded by a shimmering aura that briefly disrupts the flow of combat.
	Time: Default	Duration: Instant
Encore	Navi, Buff, Debuff (A)	Any number of targets within 8 meters	Spend 1 Counter per selected target. Add 3 rounds to the duration of any one Buff or Debuff effect on each target.	A colored cloud surrounds the target, intensifying any existing conditions.
	Time: Default	Duration: Instant
Idol's Insight	Navi, Intel, Analysis (A)	Any number of targets you can see.	At the start of combat, you may spend 1 Energy to reveal an elemental interaction of the target. You may spend extra Energy to reveal more interactions or choose more targets.	A fractal arrow pierces the target and flies back to you, revealing a readout of the target's weak points.
	Time: Automatic	Duration: Instant
Oracle	Navi, Heal, Buff, Debuff, Repress (A)	Special	Roll 1d100 (roll 1d10 for the tens, then 1d10 for the unit) and apply the appropriate effect according to the table below. Repress this spell.	The arena is surrounded by a globe of prismatic lights, filling the targets with wild energy.
	Time: Default	Duration: Instant

Oracle	Effect
00	Reduce the HP of all Users to 2.
01-10	Apply the Knocked Down Status to any number of targets you can see. This bypasses Status resistances.
11-15	Apply the Knocked Down Status to all Users.
16-30	Move all Users to the start of the initiative queue. This takes effect at the start of the next round.
31-35	Remove all Buff, Debuff, Charge and Status effects from all units in combat.
36-50	Any number of targets suffer the effects of Tarundamon , Rakundamon and Sukundamon (-2 STR, -2 MAG, -2 TEC, -2 AGI, Fortify Physical & Elements -8 for 3 rounds)
51-55	All enemy units gain the effects of Tarukajamon , Rakukajamon and Sukukajamon (+2 STR, +2 MAG, +2 TEC, +2 AGI, Fortify Physical & Elements +8 for 3 rounds)
56-70	Deal Almighty damage to any number of targets equal to your Level, multiplied by 10 (no dodge check).
71-75	A shower of colorful sparks covers the arena.
76-90	All enemy units gain Weakness to Physical, Fire, Ice, Wind, Thunder, Nuke and PSY until the start of your next turn.
91-98	Move all Shadows to the start of the initiative queue. This takes effect at the start of the next round.
99	Restore 100% HP and up to three spell uses (this can include Repressed spells) of each User.

Weapons

Name	Category	Damage	Reach	Extra	Description	Cost
Strega Grenades	Dagger	MAGd6+MAG	2-5	Deals half the rolled damage to enemies adjacent to the target	Precisely designed cognitive explosives that do not harm the user	4 RP
Chained Hatchet	Whip	STRd8+VIT	1-3	Recovers 1d6 HP on hit. -1 Death's Door counter.	An axe head attached to a collapsible chain, to be used with hopeless abandon.	4 RP
Idas	Firearm	MAGd6+6	1-4	You can choose to deal Dark Type damage instead of Gun.	The Slayer of Castor, an oversized revolver that's oddly warm to the touch.	3 RP
Tenacious Blade	Sword	STRd8	1	If you defeat an enemy with a Death Category spell, this weapon gains +1 HDC for 3 rounds.	A long, thin katana with a unique jagged grip and a partially serrated blade.	4 RP

Armor

Name	Damage Reduction	Bonus	Notes	Cost
Expert's Jacket	VIT + 3	Requires 2 STR to wear; -1 AGI	A green jacket with the padding replaced by firm plates that can deflect blows.	4 RP
Lolita Dress	1	+6 to dodge checks; Empathy Tier -1	A comfortable, form-fitting white dress with gentle, bloodstained frills.	4 RP
Belt and Jeans	2	Evade Gun 1	Tight, ripped jeans and a studded leather belt, best worn loose.	3 RP

Consumable Items

Name	Effect	Cost	Rarity
Sword of Page	Remove one Combat Bonus from one of your Personae and give it a +1 STR or +1 MAG Bonus. Bonus limitations still apply.	1 RP	1d2
Cup of Knight	Remove one Combat Bonus from one of your Personae and give it a +1 TEC or +1 AGI Bonus. Bonus limitations still apply.	1 RP	1d2
Coin of Queen	Remove one Combat Bonus from one of your Personae and give it a +1 VIT or +1 LCK Bonus. Bonus limitations still apply.	1 RP	1d2
Nihil Arm	A soft, pliable mass that assumes the form and effect of any weapon in the party's inventory until the end of combat. Activating its shape-shifting effect and equipping the Nihil Arm is considered a Quick Action that automatically unequips other weapons you're wielding. Regenerates into the User's inventory 1d4+1 days after being used.		Special

Weapon Coatings

Weapon Coatings can be purchased and used by all Users. The effects of a Coating last for 24 hours once equipped. Unequipping or swapping out your Coating removes it from your inventory. Applying a Coating is considered a Quick action. Coating effects apply to all basic attacks and Physical Type spells you cast. Active Coatings are considered equipped to the User wielding them and can be noted down on the “Sidearm” block of your Character Sheet.

Name	Effect	Cost
Advantage Point AP Rounds	If you hit a target with a single-target spell or attack, you can choose the unit acting immediately before you in the initiative queue: Starting the next round, move your position in the initiative queue so you act immediately before that unit.	4 RP
Runed Engraving	Use SKL instead of STR for attacks. Your SKL ignores Buff effects, but not Debuff effects. You cannot deal Critical Hits under the effects of this Coating.	5 RP
Blood Tinge	Damage caused by your attacks cannot be healed. This extends to damage caused by Poison, if Poison was inflicted by your Physical attacks.	3 RP
Gold Plating	On hit, you may choose to spend X RP to add Xd4 damage of the same Type of the original attack.	1 RP
Plasma Cartridges	If you miss an attack, you still deal SKL damage, and can pay 1 Aspect Point to apply secondary effects as if you had hit the target.	4 RP
Anti-Spell Grease	On hit: Target suffers a penalty to their MAG equal to half your STR, rounded down (Minimum 1). This is considered a Debuff effect and lasts for 3 rounds.	4 RP
Light Foam	Decrease the damage dice category of Physical attacks you declare by 1. (Example: If an attack deals STRd6 damage, it now deals STRd4, etc.), but all Physical attacks you declare gain +2 HDC.	3 RP
Exotic Toxin	This Coating lasts 7 days, instead of the usual 1. On hit: If you hit a Non-Ultimate, Non-Tyrant Shadow, roll 1d100. On rolling a 1, that target is instantly slain and this Coating is removed from your inventory. This is considered an Almighty Death Category effect.	3 RP

Feats
(Each of these feats can only be chosen once.)

Name	Effect	Req.
Diplomacy	Once per combat, upon attempting negotiation, you may risk a d4 and add the result to your check. However, if the value of this check is negative, subtract double the result from your check.	Wildcard Class, Tier I in at least two Social Skills
Manipulation	Once per day, upon succeeding on a negotiation's highest reward tier, you can choose to roll 1d4 and subtract it from your check. If this second result would give you an Item/RP reward, you get both the Persona and the Item or RP. This does not affect your initial roll's result.	Wildcard Class, Tier III in at least one Social Skill
Waning Pressure	Once per day, you can choose one Shadow in combat. If its level is lower than your Persona's, you gain +X HDC for all attacks against it for 3 rounds, where X is the difference between levels.	Emergent Class
Waxing Reach	Once per day, as a quick action, for each Type your Persona has, you can decrease the Energy cost of spells of one Type your Persona knows by 1 for three rounds.	Emergent Class
Armor-Piercing Materiel	Your basic attacks treat Null Physical/Gun as Resist Physical/Gun and do not trigger Counter Category skills.	Suppressor Class, CLv. 8 or higher
Ceramic Plating	If you're not wearing armor, you gain DR equal to half your Level, rounded down.	Suppressor Class
Cognitive Mimicry	Once per day, as your Interrupt action, you can choose one ally you can see and swap your Type Interactions with theirs until the end of the round.	Shadow Class
Shaped Essence	Once per day, you can assume the form of one small animal, like a cat, a bird, a fox, etc. until the end of the Scene. You can still communicate with other Persona Users normally. The transformation takes no more than a few seconds.	Shadow Class
Souls Aligned	Switching between your Personae is always treated as a Quick Action	Beacon Class, CLv. 8 or higher
Facing the End	If you take damage from an attack that puts you in Death's Door, you can deal the same amount of damage, of the same Type, to a target within 8 meters as your Interrupt action.	Beacon Class
Smirk	When you defeat a Shadow by dealing damage it's Weak to, you can choose to gain +1 DDC or +1 HDC until the end of your next turn.	CLv. 6 or higher
Bribe	Once per day, whenever you succeed at the highest result of a negotiation, you may choose to forsake gaining a new Persona to instead gain an item or RP, but you gain double what you would have gotten for that negotiation result.	Wildcard, Demi-Fiend or Devil Summoner only.

Shadows

Jack Ripper

XVI – The Tower

Level 10

Hit Points: 52

Spell Points: 11

Skill Bonus: +1 TEC, +1 SOR, +2 Expression

Leather Apron – You can choose to be placed last in the initiative queue. If you do, gain +1 TEC during the first 3 rounds of combat. This skill stacks with other Buff effects.

Optional Ruling – Wild Coating

This ruling adds a new Weapon Coating that costs 2 RP and has the following effect:
 Instead of your basic attack, you may choose to declare a Wild Attack. This is considered a basic attack, and deals the same damage as your currently equipped weapon, but its features are determined by rolling 1d6 three times, once for each of the following columns:

Result	Damage	Reach	Effect
1	Deals Fire, Ice, Wind, Nuke, PSY or Thunder damage (your choice).	This attack gains 5 meters of maximum Range.	This attack has a 30% chance to Poison.
2	Use your VIT score instead of SKL for this attack.	On hit, move to a position adjacent to the target, if possible.	If you miss this attack, you suffer the Fearful Status effect.
3	Consider your SKL as 1 for damage calculation.	Determine the range of this attack using the position of one of your allies.	If this attack kills its target, recover 1 Energy.
4	This attack deals half damage, but you can choose to hit an extra target in this attack's range.	On hit, move the target to a spot within your weapon's range (no check).	This attack deals 10% more damage for each meter of distance between you and the target.
5	Deal the rolled damage to all adjacent units to the target.	This attack's minimum and maximum range are tripled.	This attack has a 100% chance to Knockdown.
6	This attack deals half damage, but is a guaranteed Critical Hit.	This attack's maximum and minimum Reach become 1.	Lose HP equal to half the rolled damage.
